If Western Relents—

Tell Kennedy Air Pact Near

Goldberg Wins Time Extension

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today won a two-hour extension of time for an attempt to negotiate settlement of the flight engineers strike.

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House sources said today President Kennedy has been advised the flight engineers strike can be ended promptly if Western Airlines goes along with commitments by other struck companies.

These sources, who asked not to be named, said that picture of the situation had been outlined to Kennedy by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The report coincided almost precisely with an outline given to newsmen by engineers union sources.

Goldberg arranged to give Kennedy a first-hand report on settlement efforts.

Kennedy has been advised that a settlement by midday was virtually a certainty if Western Airlines agreed to let its striking flight engineers go back to work without reprisals while a presidential study committee—appointed earlier this week—attempted to work out long-range settlement. TWIN MISSILES LAUNCHED—These twin satellites launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., failed to work properly despite the fact that they are in orbit, officials said. The report indicated that the satellite Transit III-B with the Lofti "pick-a-back" mounted on top apparently reached only a 100-mile high orbit instead of 500. The payload did not detect and it is sending back weak signals. (U. S. Navy Photo by NEA Telephoto)

Alarm Disturbs Anti-Red Rally In Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A false alarm interrupted the close of an anti-Communist rally Wednesday night at a rural church near Louisville, the third straight night a disturbance has been reported near the church.

Sheriff Walter Welsch of Clay county said authorities are attempting to trace the call. An anonymous caller reported the church was on fire and Louisville firemen responded with several vehicles.

The call came at the close of the final meeting in a three-day series of anti-Communist rallies at the Christian Conservative church.

The speaker, Rev. Kenneth Goff of Denver, Colo., demanded and received a police escort out of the county. The meetings were sponsored by John R. Harrell, Louisville businessman and an unsuccessful U. S. Senate candidate on the Republican ticket in the April primary.

Rev. Goff describes himself as a former Communist worker who broke with the party and now lectures on its evils. Three crosses were burned and an effigy was hung during Monday night's meeting. (Continued On Page Nine)

In Starved Rock Case—

Weger Defense To Be His Testimony, Alibi

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — The jury in the murder trial of Chester Weger, accused of killing three socially prominent women in Starved Rock State Park, has been told the 21-year-old handyman's alibi will be his main defense.

"Our main case will consist of the testimony of Chester Weger and his alibi," defense attorney John A. McNamara said Wednesday.

McNamara's statement followed conclusion of the state's case against Weger, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Lillian Getting, 50. The other victims were Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50. All lived in Riverdale, a Chicago suburb.

There was no indication of the precise time Weger himself will take the stand. Some observers guessed he may testify as early as Friday.

He was a kitchen helper at the state park lodge when the women were bludgeoned to death last March 14 while on a brief holiday. Their bodies were found in a can in the park.

The story Weger is hoping will stave off a death penalty verdict is that he was alone in the Pow Wow Room of the lodge the afternoon the women were killed. (Continued On Page Nine)

Boy Who Killed Parents To Get Psychiatric Test

WEAVERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Daryl Moss, 15, an honor student and considered by many to be a model youth, was scheduled for arraignment today, charged with murder in the slaying of his parents.

Pilot Harry Patterson said Atlantic City's 3,000-foot long runway would have been long enough for the landing under normal conditions, but because of the power failure he couldn't reverse the propellers to slow the plane down.

The Convair plunged into the Great Thorofield 45 feet off Bader Field. It floated for five minutes, then sank halfway into the channel.

While looking for a place to set down somewhere in Maryland or Delaware, the plane's electrical system failed.

The Convair plunged into the Great Thorofield 45 feet off Bader Field. It floated for five minutes, then sank halfway into the channel.

About 10 minutes later, a police launch rescued the eight and took them to Atlantic City Hospital.

The side, Cmdr. William A. Golden of Falls Church, Va., suffered a broken left ankle. The others were released.

The youth killed his parents early Wednesday with a rifle, beat a young woman over the head with a rifle, then left his home with $438 belonging to his Boy Scout troop and to the church of which his father, Veril Moss, 45, was an elder.

Arrested an hour later, he confessed calmly, ate a big breakfast, then went to sleep.

Jean Ann Taylor, 20, the girl who lived with the Moss family and was beaten by Daryl, was recovering today at Weaverville Hospital.

Daryl was popular at the high school and in the community of Lewiston where they lived. The father was an engineer employed by the Bureau of Reclamation and working on Trinity Dam.

Daryl's outspoken opposition to the education program was regarded as significant because some Kennedy administration officials believed the Virginian might go along because of the state control features of the Kennedy bill.

Their efforts to woo Byrd over to their side have been matched by attempts to chip other Southern Democrats away from a bipartisan conservative coalition opposing the Kennedy proposals.

Even strong administration supporters like Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., are wary of any intrusion of the school segregation issue.

Smathers, secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference, said he supports the "general principles" of the Kennedy program.

But he added that he will stand with other Southerners against any effort to enforce integration.

"Any bill Congress passes now may not carry a desegregation provision. But there is real danger that on some future bill appropriating the money to make the payments to the states a rider may be attached saying that no funds shall go to any state which does not desegregate its schools."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff told a news conference Monday he believed it would through it.

Fear School Aid Will Lead To Integration

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., sparked fresh Southern opposition to President Kennedy's aid to education program with the assertion today that it will open a back door to school integration.

Byrd said he is convinced after an analysis of Kennedy's proposals for federal educational grants to states to spend as they see fit that the program will "pave the way for the most colossal sort of expenditures."

But even more distasteful to him, he said in an interview, is what he regards as the probability that Congress eventually may require school desegregation in all states accepting federal funds.

"No one can guarantee that there will not be federal efforts to control our schools to this extent," Byrd said.

"Any bill Congress passes now may not carry a desegregation provision. But there is real danger that on some future bill appropriating the money to make the payments to the states a rider may be attached saying that no funds shall go to any state which does not desegregate its schools."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff told a news conference Monday he believed it would through it.

be a great tragedy to use federal aid to education as a lever to end school segregation.

Ribicoff endorsed the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against segregation in public schools. But he said he would oppose any amendment that would deny federal aid to schools because they are segregated.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth will visit Tunisia in April. An announcement from her London residence said she had accepted an invitation from President Habib Bourguiba to pay an official visit April 24-25.

Sheridan Aftermath—

Say Superintendent Of IYC Resigns

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Horace L. Thornton, superintendent of correctional services for the Illinois Youth Commission, reportedly has resigned in the aftermath of the dismissal of the head of the Sheridan State Training School for Boys.

The resignation was announced Wednesday by Sen. Dwight P. Friedrich, R-Centralia, following a Senate subcommittee study of charges of administrative incompetence Thornton, contacted at his home in Pontiac, said he had no comment on the report. Any statement, he said, must be made by Oliver J. Keller, youth commission chairman.

Keller was unavailable for comment. Friedrich said the resignation was reported by Keller adding that Keller didn't say whether the resignation had been accepted.

Keller met for five hours with the Senate subcommittee of which Friedrich is chairman. The subcommittee announced after the session it will launch an investigation of charges concerning Sheridan.

The number of demonstrators seeking entrance to four downtown, all-white theaters grew to 120 Wednesday night as Negroes were joined by Chinese and Mexican boys and several white coeds.

This group was attacked by the white youths in the same manner as the previous night. The police had dispersed the mob of white youths, but they gathered again to beat and kick the demonstrators as they headed for their church meeting place.

Three demonstrators were treated for minor injuries. The minister was manhandled by the white boys was the Rev. Meta Collins of the United Presbyterian Church.

Police made no arrests in either of the Nashville affairs.

Navy Aide, 7 Others Survive In Plane Mishap

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A disabled plane carrying Paul E. Fay Jr. to Washington to be sworn in as undersecretary of the Navy ran off the end of the runway at the unopened airport early today and plunged into a deep-water ship channel.

None of the eight persons on board the U. S. Navy twin-engine Convair was seriously injured. The New York to Washington flight was carrying Fay; his wife, Anita; his 4-year-old daughter, Sally; an aide, and a crew of four.

Fay was in New York Wednesday to inspect the burned-out aircraft carrier USS Constellation at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and to inspect the Third Naval District.

The Convair left New York for Andrews Air Force Base, Md., but fog and rain prevented a landing there.

While looking for a place to set down somewhere in Maryland or Delaware, the plane's electrical system failed.

Pilot Harry Patterson said Atlantic City's 3,000-foot long runway would have been long enough for the landing under normal conditions, but because of the power failure he couldn't reverse the propellers to slow the plane down.

The Museum The Public Doesn't See

NOT TOO FRIENDLY. Charles M. Bogert copes with rambunctious South American iguana at American Museum of Natural History. He's chairman of the museum's department of herpetology.

The two million people who visit the American Museum of Natural History in New York each year have the privilege of viewing one of the largest and richest collections from the world of science ever assembled in one place.

Yet the public sees only a small part of what the museum houses, and only a few of the 550 employees who make up the staff.

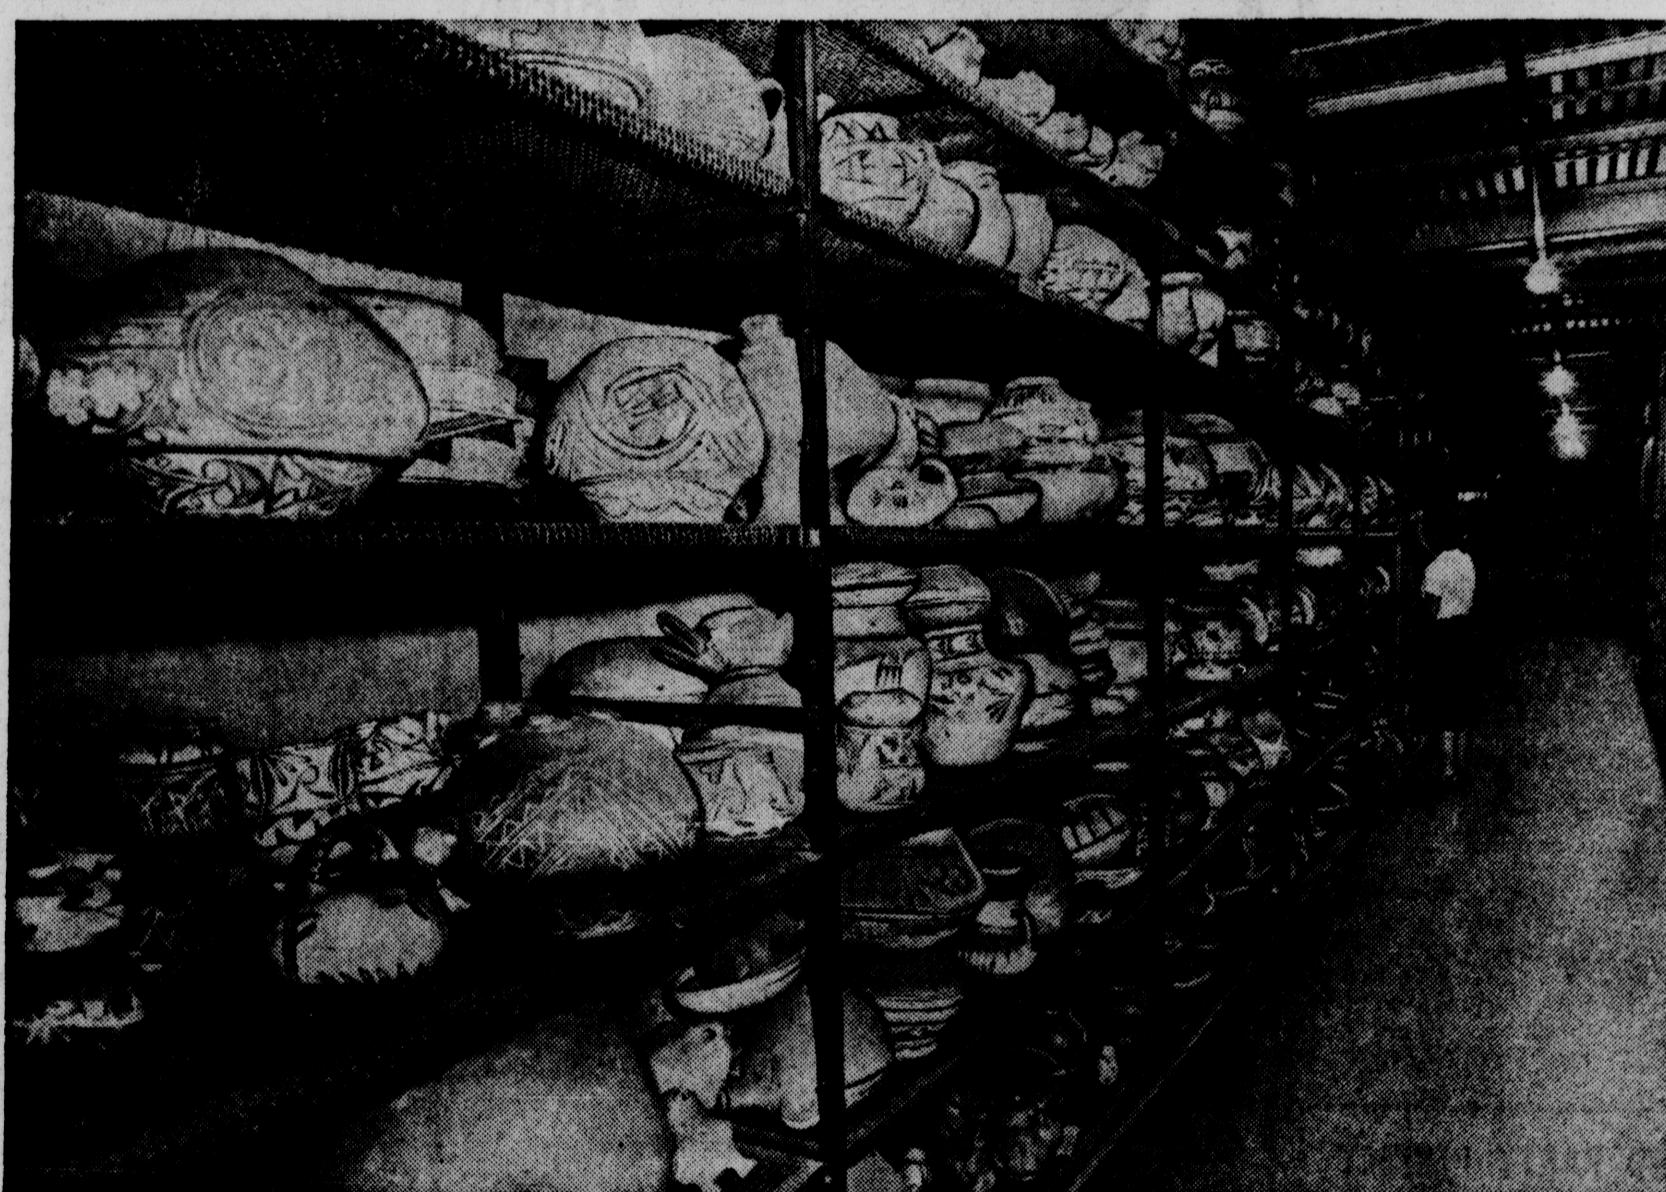

Most of the museum's collection, and most of the staff are away from the exhibit floors. For instance, there are stowed away two million anthropological specimens, ten million insects, 100,000 mammals, amphibians and reptiles, 800,000 bird specimens, 70,000 fossil vertebrates and 20,000 fishes.

This vast collection takes up acres of space. Before some of it is put up for public viewing, the live specimens must be fed and cared for, the rare objects must be cleaned and put in perfect condition, and new objects on arrival from places far and wide must be unpacked carefully and then skillfully assembled.

W.H. Crandall Honored By Insurance Council

At a luncheon meeting held in the Crystal Room of the Missouri Athletic Club at noon on Monday, February 20th, 1961, the Insurance Council of Greater St. Louis and affiliated organizations met to do honor to William H. Crandall, who is being transferred from St. Louis to Chicago (Parkridge, Illinois) by his company The Aetna Insurance Company.

Mr. Crandall has been for some years resident manager of the St. Louis office of the Aetna Insurance Company and will, after April 1, 1961, hold the title of assistant manager of the Western Department of the Aetna Insurance Company.

A beautiful plaque was presented to Mr. Crandall, left, by the chairman of the Insurance Council of Greater St. Louis, Ray R. Dolan, Jr., and suitable tributes were voiced by the presidents of nine insurance organizations located in the greater St. Louis area and most of which are represented on the insurance organizations.

Mr. Crandall's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Crandall, life-time residents of Jacksonville, who reside at 643 Hardin avenue.

In recognition of Mr. Crandall's contributions to the insurance industry in St. Louis the beautiful mahogany and copper plaque was presented at a gathering of over 300 insurance executives and officials and members of the various insurance organizations.

SIMILAR TITLES
NEW YORK (P) — Two very different musicals with very similar titles are headed for New York exhibit.

"The Happiest Girl in the World," due on Broadway this spring, is based on Greek legend. "The Happiest Girl in the World," for off-Broadway showing next fall, deals with a very knowing young modern lady, on quest for a perfect man.

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

Impala 4-Door Sedan—Jet-smooth traveler that rivals the luxury cars in everything but price

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less jounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less... well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

Hospital Group At White Hall Raises Funds

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Albert Bateman, president of the White Hall Hospital Auxiliary has announced the group served 125 ham and bean dinners on Saturday at the American Legion Home. Net proceeds from the dinners, the coffee break held during the day, the bake sale and cake made by Marjorie Watts, which was won by Eloise Guis, totaled about $160.00 which will be used for air conditioning equipment for the hospital.

Mrs. Fred Strang and Mrs. Cloyd Sawyer have been appointed to investigate the purchase of the equipment. Carl Kessinger was awarded door prize for the day.

Loyal Daughters Class
The Loyal Daughters class of the First Christian church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ben Nunes. Mrs. Harold Milnes, president, conducted a short business meeting at which time various means of raising money for the class was discussed. The class has raised sufficient funds for the glass of one church door, new glass windows and doors to be installed during the spring months. A social hour followed with refreshments served by the hostess.

Fidelas Class
The Fidelas Class of the First Baptist church held a party at the home of Mrs. John Stanfield Friday night.

It was decided to meet at the home of Mrs. Melvin Tweedy for a potluck luncheon on Thursday, so they can work on their quilt. They also discussed making cancer dressings.

Eight members and one guest, Mrs. Lawrence Litherland, were present. The hostess served chocolate cake, ice cream, and coffee.

Village Board Entertained At Oyster Supper

VIRGINIA — Mrs. George Quigg, Miss Ann Quigg and Mrs. Leonard Bean were joint hostesses, Friday, February 10 at a Valentine meeting at the George Quigg home, south of town. At noon a shared dinner was served from a table Valentine cake was the centerpiece and was cut by the members.

Places were found by each one matching the Valentine place cards with the one she was wearing.

In the absence of Mrs. Audace Herzberger, the vice president, Mrs. Jesse Mefford, presided. The secretary, Mrs. Arthur Tremper, read the roll call when each answered by a brought in Valentine from a Valentine box. The club collect was read in unison. A short business session was disposed of and Mrs. Quigg read a poem and gave a demonstration of a Valentine bouquet. Miss Anne Quigg gave a poem, "John Turnip Seed."

Bingo furnished entertainment for the social hour and prizes and favors were given to the group.

Mrs. Margaret Roellig, Michael and Robbie Bean were guests.

Every homemaker, more likely than not, can proudly say, "Here is the recipe for my own special meat loaf." Anyone who does any type of cooking takes secret pride in his or her own successful adventure into the culinary fantasy land.

Yes, even men enjoy entering this realm, particularly during the summer months when they stand willing and ready to act as the head master for the outdoor grill.

This idea for a Bacon-Topped Veal Ring won't be a guarded family treasure, however, in the eyes of the budget-minded homemaker, this recipe will become a sparkling jewel in your recipe chest.

Regardless of what the men say, stretching that food dollar isn't as easy as it may sound. That's why this recipe is such a real catch.

Serving low cost meals is an art . . . but one which the homemaker must learn to do without sacrificing the nutritional factor.

All meat contains body-building protein which everyone needs, especially growing youngsters.

So next time you're pressed for an end-of-the-week meal and the budget is almost expended, give this Veal Ring an opportunity to prove itself.

Preparation is simple, ingredients are not exotic but just wait until you taste the flavor.

First combine 1½ pounds ground veal, 1 pound ground pork, 1 cup coarse dry bread crumbs, 1 cup evaporated milk, 2 eggs which have been beaten slightly, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon celery salt and 1/4 teaspoon peppercorns.

As an interesting additive when serving the ring, place in the center a small glass dish filled with either catsup or a nippy flavored creole sauce.

This recipe for Bacon-Topped Veal Ring is as versatile as you want to make it. Using the same mixture, it can be packed into a 5x9-inch loaf pan . . . the bacon diced on top and baked in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1½ to 2 hours.

Another variation of this same mixture is Criss-Cross Veal Patties. Shape into 8 thick patties. You'll need 16 slices of bacon instead of just 2. Place two strips of bacon in the form of a cross, then place the meat patty in the center and bring the slices up over the patty. Place patties in an open roasting pan so the ends of bacon are underneath the patty. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 to 45 minutes.

Mix these ingredients thoroughly. Pack into a greased 1½ quart mold. Dice 2 slices of bacon and place on top of the ring. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour.

When ready to serve, turn the meat ring out onto a warm platter. Garnish with tiny parsleyed new alliums.

Some Like The Soft Life—

Do Dogs Grow To Be Like Owners?

NEW YORK (AP)—Dogs are introverts and extroverts just like people, says Bob Bartos, an expert on canine character. Some, in fact, grow into four-legged facsimiles of their owners.

"I have a feeling," Bartos says seriously, "that a dog that gets too human can be a little dishonest."

Basically, dogs are very much what you allow them to be, says Bartos, a professional handler, specialty judge and manager of a big research kennel in the Pacific Northwest.

"With 114 recognized breeds, of all sizes, shapes and dispositions, you can't make flat statements about dogs' temperaments any more than you can about human nationalities."

"It's true a highstrung, frenetic woman can make a nervous wreck out of a lot of animals, but a phlegmatic basset, for example, probably wouldn't be bothered."

Bringing up dogs is very much like raising children, he explains. The most important things are patience, consistency and good management. "And no one is worse for a dog, or a child, than a person who is undecided. You've got to make sure he understands exactly what you want him to do, and then make sure it does every way."

But Bartos, who has raised three children and innumerable dogs, says we expect too much of our dogs—and children, too. "We expect them to adjust immediately to every situation. Most people who expect a dog to be worldly first take him to a busy shopping district and drag him all around to expose him to everything. This is the worst thing in the world to do. He has to be prepared gradually. If you do have an extrovert who takes readily to crowds, he may have other faults. Sometimes dogs who are the hardest to train retain the training longer. Impatience is an owner's worst fault."

The secret, Mrs. Joyce Mansfield, read the minutes of the various meetings which were approved as read.

Mrs. Fairchild announced that due to the group's ham supper being held on the regular meeting night, March 16, that the group would hold just a short business meeting in the church basement following the supper. All members of the group have tickets to sell for the ham supper to be served by three groups on March 16 at the church. Several members volunteered to help in the dining room.

The treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Chapman gave her report. The CWF benediction was then recited by the group. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Ethel Shortridge, Mrs. Joyce Mansfield and Mrs. Anderson.

Virginia Altar Society Plans St. Pat's Supper

VIRGINIA—St. Luke's Altar Society met Wednesday, Feb. 15, at the rectory. Father Kozak opened the meeting with prayer.

Roll call of officers and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. James Frisch. Mrs. James Drogan gave the treasurer's report. Communications were then read by the secretary.

Mrs. N. M. Velten announced that Mrs. John Walters and Mrs. Orville Walters were the co-chairmen for the annual St. Patrick's Day ham supper, to be held March 17 at the Legion Hall. She then read the list of the various committees, their chairmen and assistant members. After further discussion relative to the ham supper, the business meeting was closed.

Father Kozak spoke a few words concerning the Lenten services and attendance at same. He urged all present to observe the Lenten season to the utmost. He then closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. W. E. Burns won the door prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Eva Brannan, Mrs. John Murray and Mrs. N. M. Velten.

The following members were present: Mesdames Robert Lockhart, Ed Flinn, John Walters, Carl Tibbs, W. E. Burns, Leo Walters, Eva Brannan, Frank Leahy, Russell Decker, James Drogan, N. M. Velten, James Frisch, L. J. Dumonceaux, Don Daniels, H. J. Collins, Elroy Scholes, Lester Bulva,

Legion Auxiliary At White Hall Sets Parley Date

WHITE HALL — Members of American Legion Auxiliary to Post No. 70 enjoyed fried chicken potluck supper at the Legion Home on Thursday night with Mrs. Virgil Bowen, Mrs. Perry White and Mrs. Floyd Hoeman serving as hostesses and commemorating the birthday anniversaries of each, which will occur during the coming month. Table decorations were in the Valentine motif and Mrs. Bowen and Roy Wyatt entertained the group with musical numbers.

Hazel Deavers, president, presided at the business meeting, at which time it was tentatively planned to hold the Past President's Parley at Day's Cafe in Carrollton, on the 20th of March with White Hall members serving as hostesses. Bunco with prizes followed the business meeting.

Problems Of Sewage Plant Discussed At Session Wednesday

Methods by which the South Side sewage disposal plant may be improved in efficiency, the elimination of noxious odors, and other technical problems were discussed Wednesday night by city and state officials, and representatives of one of the city's largest industries.

The conference, held at the office of City Attorney William T. Wilson, was called at request of Mayor Robert A. DuBois and action of the council Monday night.

At Roodhouse

REV. ERCEL CARTER

ROODHOUSE—Rev. Ercel Carter, well known in several states as an evangelistic speaker, will conduct revival services March 6 through March 12 at the Roodhouse Methodist church. He will be assisted by Rev. Delmar Redmon, pastor.

Services will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening, to which the public is cordially invited.

Rev. Carter, a native of Missouri, has served pastorates in that state, Illinois, and Texas. He has been a resident of Texas for the past five years.

Fewer Cattle On Feed In Jersey County

JERSEYVILLE — A survey of the Jersey county area reveals that fewer cattle were on feed for breeding purposes during the past fall and winter than for a number of years.

Local feeders did not stock so heavily last fall in the face of what appeared to be a declining market ahead for beef cattle as a result of an over supply in the strictly cattle raising states of the west and southwest.

Many local cattle feeders turned to greater pork production and reported that the recent high prices paid for hogs gave them an opportunity to unload at a nice profit.

For the remainder of 1961 the production of pork in Jersey county will be about the same as last year. The crop of spring pigs being farmed the past month and in March will average about the same as one year ago.

Miss Armstrong Of Carrollton Dies Thursday

CARROLLTON — Miss Grace Armstrong, resident of Carrollton most of her lifetime, died at 8:30 a.m. Thursday at Hilltop Nursing Home in White Hall.

Miss Armstrong was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong, Carrollton. The body was taken to the Simpson funeral home here. Arrangements are pending.

Prayer Services Held At Virginia Lutheran Church

VIRGINIA—The 5th World Day of Prayer was observed by the women of the Christian, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of this community on Friday afternoon, Feb. 17, at Grace Lutheran church with 83 in attendance. Thirty-eight of these in attendance participated in the service. The offering at the service amounted to $81.11. Additional contributions from some persons unable to attend brought the total to $83.36.

Registration was taken care of by Mrs. Elmer Carlson, Mrs. Ray Cline and Mrs. Jesse Mefford. Attendance from the various churches was as follows: Christian 13, Eckman Chapel 2, Lutheran 11, Methodist 28, Presbyterian 22, and Sangamon Valley Presbyterian 7.

The theme of the service was "Forward Through the Ages." Mrs. Arthur Sweatman presided at the organ and Mrs. Franklin Watkins led the singing. A special musical number was furnished by Mrs. Charles Darland, Mrs. David Finney, Mrs. J. Murphy, Mrs. Robert Rooker, Mrs. John Schaeffer and Mrs. Franklin Watkins.

A dramatization commemorating the 5th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer entitled "With Tomorrow Yet To Come" was presented. Mrs. Robert Stone was narrator. Others taking part in the drama were Mrs. Jack Calhoun, Mrs. Richard Fox, Mrs. Ted Harrison, Mrs. Thomas Johnston, Mrs. Robert Jokisch, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Conley Thomas and Mrs. Harry Watkins.

Those in charge of the offering were: Mrs. Maurice Jokisch, Mrs. Herman Reichert, Mrs. William Ring and Mrs. Conley Thomas.

Other women taking part in the service either as leaders or representing voices of other nations were as follows: Miss Lillie Gustafson, Mrs. George Huffmann, Mrs. Howard Jokisch, Mrs. Gene Crouse, Mrs. Jesse Wilhite, Mrs. Roy Anderson, Mrs. Harry Thompson, Mrs. Milton Anderson, Mrs. Frank Bruno, Miss Mary Sudbrink, Miss Mamie Hageman, Miss Louise Curtis, Mrs. Virgil Beard, Mrs. Earl Briar, Mrs. G. J. Carey, Mrs. T. O. McCullough, Mrs. Carl Peterson and Mrs. Carl Smith.

Mrs. L. N. Martin gave the benediction.

Mrs. Carl Smith was chairman of the service and those who assisted her in the planning were: Mrs. Charles A. Bennett, Mrs. Robert Jokisch, Mrs. L. N. Martin, Mrs. Carl Peterson, Mrs. Robert Rooker and Mrs. Robert Stone.

Junior Club Board

The executive board of the Virginia Junior Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. William Kilby on Wednesday, Feb. 8, for the general transaction of business. Mrs. Mason Holmes, Mrs. Reginald Jokisch and Mrs. Conley Thomas attended the meeting and plans were made for the club to sponsor a cooking school which will be held on March 21. At the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those who attended are: Mrs. Wayne Briggs, Mrs. Tom Damotte, Mrs. Ted Harrison, Miss Kay Hierman, Mrs. Mason Holmes, Mrs. Reginald Jokisch, Mrs. William Kilby and Mrs. Conley Thomas.

Change July Dates

At a special 125th anniversary committee meeting, held Monday evening, the date of the celebration was changed from July 1, 2, 3, and 4, to July 20, 21, 22, 23. This change was made due to the conflict in the July 4th date with the Beaufort celebration, the Rushville County Fair and the farmers would be harvesting wheat at this time.

All committees are hard at work and great progress is being made to make this a most memorable occasion. Any person that is able and willing to help is asked to contact the chairman of the committees. Beards and mustaches are now in style on the streets of Virginia. Those not growing either are fined $3.00 and those that won't pay the fine will appear before a Kangaroo Court in the City of Virginia.

HOME HAZARDS

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Council of Safety says housewives and children face hazards that no man would put up with the job.

The council noted that 530 persons died in the state in 1960 as a result of home accidents and 60 were killed in industrial mishaps.

Red China In The U.N.?

The specter of an old and vexing problem—entry of Communist China into the United Nations again is rearing its head to embarrass the United States.

Throughout the years of ding-dong hammering by the Soviet Union to obtain membership for its powerful Asian ally, the United States has been able to block the effort with the support of its western allies, large and small.

Now, however, the predicted rift among the western powers has come. Great Britain has indicated that it may vote for Red China's admission. That may well bring about new crises for an already-against-the-wall U.N. and possibly a new and searching look by the Kennedy administration at far-reaching U.S. policies in the Pacific.

The Earl of Home, British foreign secretary, in pledging his government's support for seating of a Red Chinese delegation, sees it as a move necessitated by the international situation. British thinking generally has been that seating of a Peiping delegation is inevitable, and Home's statement is a reflection of this attitude.

Britain has diplomatic relations with Red China but has voted—up to now—with the United States and other western nations in agreeing to put off discussion of the issue in the General Assembly for fear that such debate would harm the U.N.

Home, during a foreign affairs debate in Parliament, said:

"The facts of international life require that China should be seated. It would be quite impossible to make any substantial progress with disarmament in her absence."

The Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek based on Formosa is a charter member of the U.N. and is one of the five permanent members of the Security Council.

What effect seating of Red China would have on Chiang's membership is difficult to predict. One thing is certain:

The Communist camp's objective is to oust him from the U.N., or, at least, to neutralize his voice in its decisions.

Britain's move undoubtedly opens the door for more nations to follow her lead. Japan's leaders, for instance, will be under severe pressure to establish diplomatic relations and greater trade with Red China, a fact that may throw a monkey wrench into U.S.-Japan relations.

Whatever the issue's course, it's safe to say that lots of midnight oil will be burned in State Department offices as our diplomats seek a course safeguarding U.S. interests in the Pacific.

"Look at All Those Lovely Throats"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of honoring George Washington today, and wishing everyone could be like him, it might be well to remember that man's doubts about man were just as real in his time as they are now.

If today there is chaos in Laos, massacre in the Congo, and a riot in the United Nations, this country was in such a developing mess 174 years ago Washington thought America faced anarchy unless it found some way to control itself.

The Constitution which the Founding Fathers manufactured in convention in Philadelphia in 1787 is a monument to man's misgivings about man's good judgment and intentions.

Even at the beginning of the Philadelphia meeting Washington, padding over it, saw the big states try to work in a gimmick that would let them dominate the smaller states.

There was struggle over that at the very moment those early Americans were trying to find a way to avoid struggle. In the end, like so much that went into the document, was finally solved in compromise.

The result was an arrangement which did not base its hope for the future on man's wisdom, generosity, unselfishness or noble purpose. It just assumed men would be trying to inch in on one another for untold generations.

So it laid down rules which spelled out what the three branches of government and individuals could and couldn't do and how far they could go and couldn't. But even the Founding Fathers themselves were fallible.

At the very moment those apostles of freedom were mortaring together the bricks of liberty within the Constitution they agreed to let slaves be imported for another 20 years.

Washington, after two terms as president, surely had no illusions about mankind. His Farewell Address is a catalogue of warnings to some scholars to be the same as electricity with its positive and negative charges. Hence, to achieve nervous stability and mental poise, one must learn to breathe alternately between left and right nostrils.

Comment: I know of nothing to support the belief that any differences exist between inspired air or between the effects produced on inspired air by the functions of the two nostrils.

• A yawn is an internal stretch of the lungs and hence is excellent for the complexion.

Comment: I plead the Fifth amendment.

• The spinal cord consists of a string of vertebrae each separated from those above and below by a disc or pad of cartilage.

Comment: The spinal cord is composed wholly of nerve tissue. What is described is the vertebral column that bears much the same relation to the spinal cord as the telephone pole to the wires it supports.

Practice Yoga, If You Will, But Check Out Its Claims

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

On many occasions I have received inquiries about the medical aspects of yoga. I have avoided response because of my very limited knowledge of this highly regarded system of philosophy.

Recently, however, I was asked to review a treatise written by a titled Englishman whose life has been dedicated to the adaptation of yoga theories and practices to western civilization. From "The Yoga of Health, Joy and Youth" by Sir Paul Dukes, I gathered the material for this column.

Comment: Funny thing, I thought honey, eggs and milk were provided, respectively, by bees, chickens and cows! And I had no idea that T-bone steak had been previously "consumed" by a steer!

• The cross leg posture helps to overcome arthritic and rheumatic tendencies. The fish posture is a valuable stimulus to thyroid and parathyroid glands. The peacock posture "massages and tones liver, pancreas and kidneys." And a daily enema or colon irrigation is as essential as cleaning the teeth. Taken with water slightly above blood temperature, the enema or irrigation is useful in "counteracting colds, flu and similar conditions."

Comment: This beats the worst of the singing commercials.

The daily newspaper is still the greatest bargain in America today, supplying for a few cents per day in convenient form the kind of information every citizen needs in a free society.

MILLIONS FOR MISSIONS

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) — The Methodist Church in 1960 spent more than $30 million dollars for mission work at home and overseas, it was reported at a meeting here.

Red China In The U.N.?

The specter of an old and vexing problem—entry of Communist China into the United Nations again is rearing its head to embarrass the United States.

Throughout the years of ding-dong hammering by the Soviet Union to obtain membership for its powerful Asian ally, the United States has been able to block the effort with the support of its western allies, large and small.

Now, however, the predicted rift among the western powers has come. Great Britain has indicated that it may vote for Red China's admission. That may well bring about new crises for an already-against-the-wall U.N. and possibly a new and searching look by the Kennedy administration at far-reaching U.S. policies in the Pacific.

The Earl of Home, British foreign secretary, in pledging his government's support for seating of a Red Chinese delegation, sees it as a move necessitated by the international situation. British thinking generally has been that seating of a Peiping delegation is inevitable, and Home's statement is a reflection of this attitude.

Britain has diplomatic relations with Red China but has voted—up to now—with the United States and other western nations in agreeing to put off discussion of the issue in the General Assembly for fear that such debate would harm the U.N.

Home, during a foreign affairs debate in Parliament, said:

"The facts of international life require that China should be seated. It would be quite impossible to make any substantial progress with disarmament in her absence."

The Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek based on Formosa is a charter member of the U.N. and is one of the five permanent members of the Security Council.

What effect seating of Red China would have on Chiang's membership is difficult to predict. One thing is certain:

The Communist camp's objective is to oust him from the U.N., or, at least, to neutralize his voice in its decisions.

Britain's move undoubtedly opens the door for more nations to follow her lead. Japan's leaders, for instance, will be under severe pressure to establish diplomatic relations and greater trade with Red China, a fact that may throw a monkey wrench into U.S.-Japan relations.

Whatever the issue's course, it's safe to say that lots of midnight oil will be burned in State Department offices as our diplomats seek a course safeguarding U.S. interests in the Pacific.

"Look at All Those Lovely Throats"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of honoring George Washington today, and wishing everyone could be like him, it might be well to remember that man's doubts about man were just as real in his time as they are now.

If today there is chaos in Laos, massacre in the Congo, and a riot in the United Nations, this country was in such a developing mess 174 years ago Washington thought America faced anarchy unless it found some way to control itself.

The Constitution which the Founding Fathers manufactured in convention in Philadelphia in 1787 is a monument to man's misgivings about man's good judgment and intentions.

Even at the beginning of the Philadelphia meeting Washington, padding over it, saw the big states try to work in a gimmick that would let them dominate the smaller states.

There was struggle over that at the very moment those early Americans were trying to find a way to avoid struggle. In the end, like so much that went into the document, was finally solved in compromise.

The result was an arrangement which did not base its hope for the future on man's wisdom, generosity, unselfishness or noble purpose. It just assumed men would be trying to inch in on one another for untold generations.

So it laid down rules which spelled out what the three branches of government and individuals could and couldn't do and how far they could go and couldn't. But even the Founding Fathers themselves were fallible.

At the very moment those apostles of freedom were mortaring together the bricks of liberty within the Constitution they agreed to let slaves be imported for another 20 years.

Washington, after two terms as president, surely had no illusions about mankind. His Farewell Address is a catalogue of warnings to some scholars to be the same as electricity with its positive and negative charges. Hence, to achieve nervous stability and mental poise, one must learn to breathe alternately between left and right nostrils.

Comment: I know of nothing to support the belief that any differences exist between inspired air or between the effects produced on inspired air by the functions of the two nostrils.

• A yawn is an internal stretch of the lungs and hence is excellent for the complexion.

Comment: I plead the Fifth amendment.

• The spinal cord consists of a string of vertebrae each separated from those above and below by a disc or pad of cartilage.

Comment: The spinal cord is composed wholly of nerve tissue. What is described is the vertebral column that bears much the same relation to the spinal cord as the telephone pole to the wires it supports.

Church Council
Takes Stand On Public Issues

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Resisting heavy attacks, the National Council of Churches Wednesday stuck to its course of taking outspoken stands on public issues.

But an olive branch was waved toward some critics.

With the Bible cited as a guide book, the council pressed ahead to map declarations on government aid to education and on means to achieve better medical care.

Both are highly charged questions before Congress.

The council's president, J. Irwin Miller, a Columbus, Ind., manufacturer, said the voice of the church on such social issues "is seldom comfortable, often irritating."

But despite "formidable criticism," he said, churches cannot "play it safe," but must continue "to speak up, and point the way" without fear, even at the risk of sometimes being wrong.

Proposed statements would endorse prepaid medical care for the aged through the Social Security system, and federal aid to public schools, with parochial and private schools excluded.

These generally are the programs urged by President Kennedy's administration.

The council includes most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations—34 of them with 40 million members.

Miller told the council policy-making general board meeting here that "a very considerable amount of criticism has been hurled at the council for its attempts to apply God's word to specific, contemporary problems."

But he added: "There is a solid connection between the teachings of Jesus Christ" and the "clear, present desperate needs of society."

Since humans may err in projecting these principles into contemporary affairs, he urged constant self-restraint and self-criticism by the church council.

Some of the criticism of the council's position on social issues has come from smaller, more conservative groups, such as the National Association of Evangelicals.

The Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner of Philadelphia, head of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and copresident of the United Church of Christ, urged "prayerful consultations" with the rival camp.

He said the purpose of these talks would be "restoring confidence and communication" between those of differing Christian approaches.

Defending the council policies, he said that, "When we publish a witness with regard to some phase of the economic system we are acting in the tradition of the Old Testament prophet Amos and St. Paul."

The stalemate supporting medical care for the aged through the Social Security system traced its Biblical base to Jesus' ministry to "the sick and suffering," and added: "The apostle Paul wrote that the strong should bear the burdens of the weak."

Committee Works
On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House agriculture subcommittee, after hearing the conflicting views of farm organizations, Wednesday began thrashing out its version of President Kennedy's emergency feed grain proposal.

Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., opened the subcommittee into closed session to begin work on the bill after two days of public hearings.

"I feel we better get to working on this legislation," Poage said.

The subcommittee spent about 90 minutes in general discussions of the proposal and how it would work, then adjourned until Thursday.

It was reported that the voting stage has not yet been reached on the over-all proposal or any possible amendments but the subcommittee was said to be hopeful of winding up its action by Friday.

The Senate Agriculture Committee starts its hearings on the bill Thursday. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will be a witness.

At the House hearings, opposition to the one-year proposal came from the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Soybean Association, and the National Grain Trade Council.

It was supported by the National Farmers Union, National Grange, President Fred W. Heinkel of the Missouri Farmers Association, and a self-described "dirt farmer from York, Neb."

Kennedy's proposal would raise corn price supports from $1.06 to $1.20 a bushel on this year's crop with other feed grains raised in proportion.

(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER—Several Winchester Kiwanians traveled to Chatham Tuesday evening for an inter-club meeting with the Kiwanis Club in that city. The "Traveling Maul" was taken by the local club and presented to Carl E. Evans, president, to the president of the Chatham Club.

Robb Reub of the Winchester Club was program chairman for the evening and spoke to the gathering giving them a short history of the Indians. He illustrated his talk by displaying several of the Indian relics he has gathered since becoming interested in this subject.

Those of the local club who attended the Chatham meeting were Carl E. Evans, Paul Lehman, Edward Wild, M. W. Kehart, R. R. Funk, Father James O'Hara, Richard Lashmet, Fred Evans, Rob Rueb, Rev. Oscar Grindheim, William Bolte, Charles Buning, Sam Peak, Charles Marshall, George Fogie, Harry Lair, Gerald Wisdom and Everett L. McGlasson.

Pancake And Sausage Day

"All you can eat" are the words for the pancake and sausage day to be held Saturday, Feb. 25, in the dining hall of the First Baptist church in Winchester. Approximately 250 pounds of sausage is ready for the big day which will commence at 11:00 in the morning through 1:00 p.m. and again in the evening from 5:00 until 7:00 or until everyone has eaten their fill.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Men's Fellowship group of the church who are sponsoring the annual event or they may be obtained at the door at $1 each.

A large crowd is being anticipated so that the chairmen and their assistants can be kept busy throughout the day. George Lashmet is chairman in charge of frying the pancakes; Watson Taylor, chairman of the sausage frying; Truman Scott, dining room chairman and William Campbell is chairman in charge of kitchen arrangements. Melvin Schnake is general chairman of the affair which is becoming an annual event in Winchester.

Band Boosters

The Band Booster organization for the Winchester High and Grade schools held their regular meeting Monday evening in the grade band room with Mrs. Dennis Williams, president, presiding. She appointed a nominating committee of Mrs. James Dwyer, Mrs. Wilbur Moore and Mrs. Tracy Johnson to select a slate of officers to be voted on at the next regular meeting in April.

During the evening it was voted to appropriate $50 to send students to music camp this summer. Mrs. William Haggard, Mrs. A. L. Sauer and Mrs. Ray Cherry were appointed to make arrangements for the annual band party.

Mrs. James Lashmet, Jr., and Mrs. Warren Breeding were appointed as a committee in charge of decorating the auditorium for the spring concert.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM
CRIT HANELINE, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR
IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUES., FEB. 28, 1961

Dear Voter:

I have lived in Jacksonville since 1912. The Haneline family has been in this county since 1878. My two daughters were born here and educated in our public school system. My wife and I were married here, she died here and is at rest in Diamond Grove Cemetery. My personal life and my interests are wrapped up in this town and it is truly my home. I have operated my own business here as sole owner since 1933.

I served as an alderman from the fourth ward for four years, from May 1949 to May 1953. During this period I was finance chairman and in this capacity I had a part in every operation of the city administration. During this period the city council was unusually busy due to the building boom, the formation of the new zoning ordinance and the building of Mrs. Tucker's plant. The building of this plant took many hours of the council's efforts for more than two years to work out power, water and sewer services, etc. This was well worth while for it is a fine addition to the industry of our city. I had to become a student of municipal government to be able to function properly in my position. For this reason I feel justified in saying that I am qualified to fill the position of mayor.

I know how the city should be operated. How to furnish adequate services and still keep within a reasonable budget. I am aware of the problems our industry has presented to the city and I am aware of the methods necessary for their solution.

As an individual business owner I will not be called on to take a part in negotiations with the city as an employee of industry for power, water and sewer rates which actually constitutes a conflict of interests.

If you feel that my past experience and present ability qualify me for the office of mayor, then mark my name on the Republican ballot on Tuesday, February 28 next.

Sincerely,
Crit Haneline

I BELIEVE in active and positive management of the trust imposed by the citizens of Jacksonville in their Mayor.

As Mayor I would maintain regular office hours at city hall.

Better coordination of city departments requires periodic staff meetings with supervisory personnel.

Work for the establishment of a personnel policy that will improve working conditions for city employees that will at the same time improve the services rendered to the people.

Bring up to date the 1908 City Code and in this connection the organization, function and duties of each council committee.

I BELIEVE THESE THINGS CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY THE COUNCIL AND THE MAYOR, WORKING IN HARMONY, FOR THE GOOD OF ALL THE CITIZENS.

Honor Mother On 70th Birthday

A Jacksonville woman, Mrs. Mary Robertson, was honored on occasion of her 70th birthday with a surprise party Sunday, Feb. 19th, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Hilda Johnson, East St. Louis, Ill. Six of her ten children and families were present. Mrs. Robertson resides at 2104 South Mauaisterre street.

Standing, l-r, Mrs. Eleanor Lear, Aurora; Arthur Robertson, Orlando, Fla.; Mrs. Hilda Johnson, East St. Louis and Mrs. Donna Judd, Danville, Ill.

The other four children were unable to attend. They are SP4 Phillip Robertson, stationed with the armed forces in Germany; Mrs. Viola Stilman, Oak Lawn, Ill.; Junior Robertson, Truman, Ark.; and J. T. Robertson, Belleville, Ill. Mrs. Robertson has 25 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The family gathering included Arthur Robertson and his wife, Helen, Florida; Mrs. Eleanor Lear and husband, Roy and their son, John, Aurora; Mrs. Donna Judd and husband, Gene, Danville; Mrs. Anna Vieira, of Jacksonville and Mrs. Evelyn Wiant and two children, Bobette and Rose, Jacksonville.

A special guest for the day was the Rev. Alfred Webb, pastor of First Christian church, East St. Louis, and Denise and David Webb.

World Prayer Day
Services Held
At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Amid overcast skies and spring-like temperatures, 105 worshippers came to the First Baptist church on Friday, Feb. 17, to be a link in the golden chain of prayer that encircled the globe.

The cooperating churches were First Baptist, Christian, and Methodist. From 1:30 to 2 p.m. appropriate music was played from the First Baptist church towers reminding the citizens of the World Day of Prayer observance.

The service started with the prelude "Sweet Hour of Prayer" with Mrs. Frieda Navins at the organ and Mrs. H. L. Janvrin at the piano.

During the prelude the worshippers read silently the World Day of Prayer Meditation as found in the beginning of their program booklets. The following served as leaders: Helen Watkins gave the Call to Worship; Alma Martin was the leader for "We Come in Joyful Remembrance."

The Voices were: Mary Jane Durham, Mildred Spencer, Effie McDonald, Isolda Fugger, Myra Winter, Cecile Hawk, Adele Hutton, Irma Harp, and Sharon Branham. They answered the roll call of the nations. Helen Coats led the congregation in "We Come in Penitence and Dedication."

Sarah Sheppard was the leader for "We Come in Glad Commitment." She gave the message basing her remarks on the title "The Enlarged Opportunities Which the Offerings Will Make Possible."

Those serving as ushers in taking up the offering were Josephine Orr, Mildred Hutton, Marjorie Ash, and Hattie Lewis. The offering amounted to $51.50 which was sent to the United Church Women in New York, and from there it will be channeled to the various worthy causes. The last leader was Lyla Hodges who led the congregation in "We Come in Assurance and Hope." After benediction was given in unison, the worshippers left quietly and reverently with the theme "Forward Through the Ages" ringing in their hearts.

A union choir composed of 18 voices led the congregation in the singing of the hymns. The World Day of Prayer Planning Committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank all who cooperated and participated in this fellowship of prayer.

Millions Of Boys Wrote Notes
To Gilbert About Erector Sets

By JULES LOH
NEW YORK (AP) — "One night I went up to the attic and messed around," wrote Stephen Smith of Gettysburg, Pa. "Then I saw a funny thing. I didn't know what it was."

"I opened it and it came to my mind it was an Erector set. When my father was a little boy he had an Erector.

"For Christmas I wished to have an Erector and a microscope and a lab set. And even then I did many things with both."

The youngster's letter, sincere if not altogether grammatical, didn't differ much from more than a million others written to its science toy business. A. C. Gilbert over the years, which shows that when he died Jan. 24 a part of American boyhood went with him.

With Gilbert's death, leadership of the company passed to his son, Alfred Carlton Gilbert Jr., who says he'll "make every effort to continue to create" the same type educational toys his father made famous.

In his later years, the elder Gilbert went to the office only three days a week and concerned himself mainly with choosing new toys to add to the existing line of 51 different sets in 11 science categories.

But none of Gilbert's inventions (he owned more than 150 patents) has had the success of the Erector — the original do-it-yourself gift that not only has occupied many a boyhood hour but also launched many an adult career. More than 10 million boys have owned Erector sets, and who can say how many, like Stephen Smith, have added to the ones passed along to them by their fathers; because the thing hasn't changed a whit since A. C. Gilbert built the first one back in 1913.

Gilbert made friends through his other toys, to be sure, though company spokesmen say Erector represents "a substantial part" of

The Trip to Washington

THIS FAMOUS CARTOON by hostile Confederate artist Adalbert Volk caricatures President-elect Abraham Lincoln as he passed through Baltimore on his train trip from Springfield to Washington, D.C., for his inauguration on March 4, 1861.

The drawing spoofs the precautions taken by the future President because of rumors of an assassination plot in Baltimore. Lincoln, who began the trip on Feb. 11, disbelieved the rumors until he received the report of detective Allan Pinkerton in Philadelphia which was later confirmed by another report in Harrisburg. So he secretly left Harrisburg for Baltimore, accompanied by Pinkerton. It was midnight when he got to the Maryland city. His railroad car was unhooked and horse-drawn through town to another railroad.

Contrary to reports, Lincoln never left his coach during his trip through Baltimore and pictures to that effect are erroneous. Lincoln arrived safely in Washington on Feb. 23. There still is some doubt among historians as to whether there actually was a plot to assassinate the president-elect in Baltimore. Evidence from Pinkerton's files, particularly, seems to indicate that there was, and that the precautionary steps taken were necessary.

NEW YORK (AP)—If the demand for new homes has slackened, the year for fixing up and enlarging present houses hasn't.

Some eager to cater to this trend optimistically estimate Americans will spend a record $21 billion this year on improvements and repairs.

This would help the economy in general at a time when such aid is welcome.

It also would please makers of all kinds of building materials, home furnishings and appliances, as well as architects, decorators and builders. Sharing the boom would be dealers in lumber, plumbing fixtures, paint, and a fairly newcomer to the scene, the operator of home modernization centers.

The trend also would please various purveyors of credit to the masses—for improvement financing can run all the way from government-approved mortgage loans to advances by your friendly banker or finance company.

One of the services the home modernization center offers in a single package is that equally modern device, on-the-cuff financing.

The size of this market compares favorably with new houses

ROODHOUSE—The Roodhouse public school teachers have formed an organization known as the Roodhouse Education Association which is affiliated with the Greene County Education Association; the IEA; and with the NEA. Officers have been elected as follows:

President, Robert Coots; vice president, Ross Manning; secretary, Marilyn Day; treasurer, Joe Brown.

The group will meet following the monthly faculty meetings.

Speech Contest

Joe Brown, head of the local high school speech department, accompanied two of the contestants, Ronnie Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, and Gary Whewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Everett, to the district speech contest at Waverly, Saturday.

Ronnie Williams placed fifth. On March 4, Mr. Brown will accompany four of the young people to the debate contest to be held in Springfield. Participating will be Ronnie Williams, Gary Whewell, Phil Bruce and Sarah Martin.

Highlanders Win, 71-66; IC Ends Home Stand In 73-44 Win

Mac Murray Notches 17th Win In Turning Back Mc Kendree Five

A fifteen foot jump shot with two minutes remaining by freshman center Chuck Mau gave the MacMurray Highlanders a 66-65 lead they never lost Wednesday as the MacMurray Highlanders took a 71-66 victory from McKendree College on the home floor.

The lead changed hands nine times in the first half as McKendree took the edge at the half, 40-38. MacMurray's largest lead in the frame was two points, held several times in the frame, while McKendree's largest margin was 5 points, 31-26.

The Bearcats of McKendree kept their lead throughout most of the second half with MacMurray taking the edge for the first time in the frame at the 6:30 mark, 60-59. Three quick baskets by McKendree's Lenny Clendenin against one for the Highlanders by Roy Hahnfeld gave McKendree a three point lead with four minutes to go. Don McCarty hit a fifteen footer, setting up Chuck Mau for his jump shot which put the Highlanders on top to stay. A basket by Ron Price and a bucket and free throw by Gary Little iced the game for the Highlanders, as the Bearcats fought vainly for the ball.

MacMurray hit 30 of 72 attempts from the field for a respectable 42%, while the red-hot Bearcats sank 25 of 51 for 49%.

MacMurray, who this week accepted a bid to the NCAA post-season playoffs, now holds a 17-5 record, while McKendree's this year's Prairie College Conference Champions, holds a 16 win, 4 loss mark. Two of McKendree's losses have been at the hands of the Highlanders.

Coach Bill Wall's basketballers have three more games remaining on the road at Lake University in Jefferson City, Missouri, March 4, and at home Tuesday, February 28, against Augustana College.

The MacMurray Junior Clansmen also won in last night's action, smothering the Jayvees of McKendree 75-46. Jim Brandt, Bruce Wall, and Steve Shostrom lead the cause for Coach Neil Williams' squad, with 14 counters apiece.

W. Virginia Girl Wins Cherry Pie Championship

CHICAGO (AP) — A winsome 17-year-old West Virginia girl — the last of 50 contestants to put her pie in the oven Wednesday captured the 1961 national cherry pie championship.

She is hazel-eyed Sherry Anne Shirley of Bunker Hill, a small community 72 miles from Washington. She is a senior in Musselman High School in Bunker Hill and president of her class.

Sherry spent a full hour this morning draining the frozen cherries, while her mother, Mrs. Granville Shirley, and her chaperone and home economics teacher, Miss Ruhama Miller, twisted handkerchiefs nervously. Sherry was the very last to put the finishing culinary touches to her entry and close the oven door.

"But Sherry knew what she was doing," said Miss Miller. "She has a lot of self-confidence, a lot of poise and she never gets excited in these pastry baking contests."

As champion in the 29th annual contest sponsored by the National Red Cherry Institute, the brown-haired Bunker Hill lass won a $500 college scholarship in home economics to the school of her choice, an electric range and a trip to Washington, D. C. and New York with her chaperone. While in Washington, the champion traditionally presents the prize-winning pie to the White House.

SERVING TRAYS ON AIRLINERS
CAUSE OF INJURIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Metal serving tray stuck into a rear pocket of the seat ahead of you, in a plush modern airliner, may be handy and useful but it can also be a deadly weapon.

The airlines have learned this from a study of the Electra crash at Boston last Oct. 14, when 62 of the 68 aboard were killed.

At an air safety hearing before the Senate Aviation subcommittee this week, Bernard C. Doyle, a Civil Aeronautics Board investigator, said many of the passengers suffered head injuries apparently from being thrown against the service trays on the back of the seats ahead of them.

Had the trays not been in place, the passengers might not have been badly hurt on impact with the foam rubber or cloth backs of the seats, officials said.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — America's astronauts looked confidently forward to an upcoming manned rocket flight. But scientists of the transit navigation satellite project were disappointed that only one instead of two satellites had been orbited with a single rocket.

These contrasting moods were evident Wednesday as officials of both space programs assessed the results of a pair of major launches Tuesday at Cape Canaveral.

In one, an unmanned Project Mercury capsule was hurled 107 miles into space atop an Atlas missile and survived a punishing test which subjected it to the most severe conditions a man could expect on returning to earth from orbit.

Nearly 15 hours later, a Thor-Able-Star rocket thundered skyward in an effort to place two satellites into orbit—the 250-pound Transit III-B and a 54-pound hitchhiker called Lotti, which was to study space communications.

The Defense Department announced two hours after launch that both satellites were in orbit, but closer analysis of the data showed they had not separated—that they were whirling around the earth together, with the second stage of the rocket also attached.

Six of the seven U. S. astronauts—including two of the three who have been selected to train for the first manned flight—glowed over the latest success of the space capsule.

Alan B. Shepard Jr. and John H. Glenn Jr., two of those preparing for the initial flight, which is expected in two or three months, were asked at a news conference if they feel confident enough to ride in the next capsule.

"The answer is an overwhelming yes—resounding yes," replied Shepard.

"Absolutely," answered Glenn.

Virgil L. Grissom, the third space candidate named, was in Bermuda, where he monitored Tuesday's flight from a control console in a Project Mercury tracking center. But he was reported to be as eager as Glenn and Shepard to make the manned flight as soon as possible.

"There was a terrible vibration before it really exploded," he said.

"First there was a little wave and then another and then the big one. It all happened pretty fast.

"I started down the pole and then it blew me the rest of the way."

Shearon received hospital treatment for shock and was released.

The men were employees of Boeman-Chase Construction Co. of Borger.

The Texas Department of Public Safety identified four of the dead as F. H. Dophle and L. H. Sykes of Borger and H. C. Nolen and A. E. Monroe of Amarillo.

Missing and presumed to be the other victims were J. W. Hall and W. W. Pearson of Borger; L. R. Tucker, Amarillo; A. H. Gardner, Pampa; and W. M. Garrett of Dumas or Amarillo.

The bodies were so badly burned the Texas safety department sent a special identification team to help.

The injured man was Charles A. Buckley, 58, Borger. He stood near a window in a construction shack as the explosion occurred.

The extreme heat of the blast set his clothes afire. He ran outside to a puddle of water and extinguished the blaze. He remained under treatment at North Plains Hospital here.

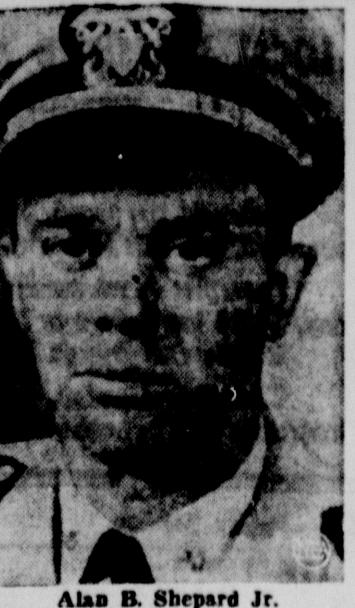

Phillips officials said the explosion came from a ruptured pipeline. The refinery suffered no damage except to the pipe.

He said a decision on whether a man will ride on the next Redstone suborbital flight has not been made.

"It depends on the final analysis of the data received from the Mercury-Redstone-2 launching," Powers reported. "Ham, the space chimp, survived that flight.

Later, perhaps this year, one or more of the astronauts will be hoisted into orbit by an Atlas.

them.

The Transit-Lofti satellite was reported circling the earth in an orbit ranging from 104 miles to 617 miles high. The two separate satellites were to have gone into circular orbits 500 miles up.

Dr. Richard Kershner, Transit project manager, said the partial failure is reducing the effectiveness of radioed information from the satellites. But he termed the failure "not crucial" and said some useful information is being received from both experiments.

Kershner added he did not think the test results would delay a plan to put an operational system of transit satellites into orbit late in 1962. Once up, they will provide ships, planes and submarines with an accurate, all-weather navigation system.

Nearly 15 hours later, a Thor-Able-Star rocket thundered skyward in an effort to place two satellites into orbit—the 250-pound Transit III-B and a 54-pound hitchhiker called Lotti, which was to study space communications.

The Defense Department announced two hours after launch that both satellites were in orbit, but closer analysis of the data showed they had not separated—that they were whirling around the earth together, with the second stage of the rocket also attached.

J. Graham Parsons Named Next U.S. Envoy To Sweden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said Wednesday President Kennedy has picked Asst. Secretary of State J. Graham Parsons as the next U.S. ambassador to Sweden.

U. Alexia Johnson, now U.S. ambassador to Thailand and a former representative to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization council in Bangkok is expected to succeed Parsons in the asst. secretaryship in early April.

Diplomatic sources also said Kennedy is going ahead with the nomination of Harvard Prof. Edwin O. Reischauer as ambassador to Japan. Those sources said Japanese agreement to the selection is expected in a few days and a White House announcement may be expected next week.

Reischauer, 51, who was born in Japan, is head of Harvard's Center of Far Eastern Studies. There has been controversy over him on account of some of his writings.

Among other things Reischauer has suggested a second look at the question of recognizing Communist China, and adoption of a policy that would "lay the foundations for a relationship with the Chinese which might give us some leverage in the war of ideas."

Another item in the Reischauer situation is the fact that his present wife, whom he married after his first wife died in 1955, is Harue Matsukata, a Japanese writer. In general, it is State Department policy not to send a diplomat to the home country of a foreign wife.

Dr. W. S. Downey

Observes 84th Anniversary

JERSEYVILLE—Dr. S. W. Downey, osteopath of this city, marked his 84th birthday anniversary Tuesday and in celebration of the event was honored at a dinner given at the home of his nephew and niece, Corporal and Mrs. Wilson Schultz of Jerseyville.

Dr. Downey was born in Jersey County a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Downey, pioneer residents of Jersey County. He received his early education in the local schools and later was graduated from the American School of Osteopathy in Kirksville, Mo. Following his graduation Dr. Downey located in Pennsylvania until 1938. That year he incurred injuries in an automobile accident which made it necessary for him to discontinue practice of his profession for some time. He went to New Orleans, La., where he remained with a brother, Jesse Downey until the latter's death, and in the spring of 1941 Dr. Downey returned to Jerseyville to make his home and resumed his professional work here.

Last year Dr. Downey moved his offices from the upstairs location in the Jersey State Bank building to newly remodeled quarters on the first floor of the Masonic building where he is presently practicing.

Dr. Downey has been active in Masonic work and was instrumental in organizing the De-Molay Chapter in Jerseyville and has served as an adviser of the De-Molays since its organization.

School District 117 Community News

In answer to one of several questions submitted to the Public Relations Committee, School District 117, at the invitation of this column.

"Why are teachers paid on a 12 month basis instead of nine months?"

1. Teachers have to live and pay bills for full year, the same as everybody else.

2. Teachers prefer to receive a check each month of the year.

It is easier to manage their finances in this way.

3. It saves the school district money. If we had to pay salaries in full by June 1, the district would have to borrow at least $300,000 more money. To pay in summer, money is actually withheld from the teacher's salary each month. In other words, the total amount paid the teacher is the same by either plan, but it is advantageous to both parties to pay on a twelve-months basis.

—District 117—

All physical education teachers in District 117 have been meeting the past six months to revise and organize the physical education curriculum from primary through high school grades. The results of the reorganization will be a more coordinated and better planned District wide program. Mrs. Eloise Ridder, physical education instructor at Jacksonville High School is chairman of the group.

—District 117—

to the sale.

The Club will sponsor a cooking school, which will be held on March 21, at the Virginia high school gym at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The Club will also sponsor a card party and fashion show, on April 18. Fashions will be from the Emporium at Jacksonville.

Mrs. Reginald Jokisch introduced Miss Helen Hackman, Home Advisor in Pike county, who presented the program, "Plain and Fancy." Miss Hackman and her assistants, Mrs. Horner Adams, Mrs. Arthur Brozier and Mrs. John Scovil modeled hats they had made and explained the various hat forms and materials they have used in their hobby. Mrs. George Petefish also modeled several hats and was a special assistant for the evening.

Twelve members from the Senior Woman's Club attended the meeting and Mrs. Jim Dooling, of Ashland was also a guest of the Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. William Harris, chairman, Mrs. Richard Fox, Mrs. Eddie Johnson, Mrs. Jim Webster and Mrs. R. C. Yates.

Neighborhood Club Holds Meet At Murrayville

MURRAYVILLE—The Friendly Neighbors Club met Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23 at the home of Mrs. Josie Hayes.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Russell Osborne with the pledge to the flag and club song by the group.

Roll call was answered by nine members by giving "My first sweetheart heart."

The minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Roy Hall. A collection was taken for the flower fund.

The program, led by Mrs. Roy Hall, consisted of a comic visit from "Charlie Weaver" with the reading of a "Letter from Mama."

Mrs. Fred Pahlman was in charge of the social hour with prizes won by Mrs. Carl Saxer and Mrs. Roy Hall.

A secret pal valentine exchange followed.

The hostess served refreshments of ice cream, cake, coffee and candy.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Feb. 23 at 1:30 o'clock with Mrs. Albert Leetham.

Those present were Mrs. Earl Hall, Mrs. Albert Leetham, Mrs. Russell Osborne, Mrs. Carl Saxer, Mrs. Russell P. Mason, Mrs. Marion Langdon, Mrs. Fred Pahlman, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. Roy Hall and the hostess.
